AFTERNOON DISPATCHES FROM ASSOCIATED PRESS

M. DE WITTE, THE NEW PRESIDENT OF THE RUSSIAN COUNCIL OF MINISTERS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 31.—The transport Thomas sails tomorrow for Honolulu en route to Manila. The Thomas carries $5,000,000 in silver certificates.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Aug. 31.—It is stated that 15,000 men have been assembled by the insurrectionary force and an open declaration of an insurrection against the Government will be made immediately.

SALONICA, Aug. 31.—There is talk among many elements of a movement to murder foreign Consuls in order to provoke the intervention of the Powers. Under ordinary conditions such talk would attract little attention but under present disturbed conditions the people seem ready to commit any excess.

ST. PETERSBURG, Russia, Aug. 31.—Minister Witte has been appointed President of the Russian Privy Council of Ministers and has consequently resigned as Minister of Finance. Minister Witte is probably the ablest leader of the Russian Government. His management of the finances of the country has marked him as a man of the highest attainments and his advancement comes as no surprise.

PANAMA, Aug. 31.—The revolutionary spirit against the Government is steadily growing. Citizens of Panama are highly incensed against the Colombian Government on account of the rejection of the Panama Canal Treaty. It is probable that a movement for the independence of Panama will have a strong following in event the Colombian Congress fails to decide upon amendments to the treaty which offer reasonable prospect of acceptance by the United States.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 31.—A second attempt to pull off the final race of the international series failed today on account of the lack of wind to carry the yachts over the course within the time limit. The weather and the general feeling of confidence that the Shamrock III. has little chance of taking the last race caused a considerable falling off in the crowds of the excursion fleet. Nevertheless there was a good sized assembly and plenty of enthusiasm on the craft that gathered about the starting line.

The course set was to windward and return. The Reliance led from the starting line, beating the Shamrock twenty minutes to the outer mark. The Shamrock seemed to have lost all her ginger and was much less successful in finding favoring puffs of wind.

After the mark was turned the Shamrock began to make a better showing, gaining very gradually on the Reliance. The wind, which was light at the outset, fell almost to a calm. When the Reliance was within half a mile of the finish line, the signal was given calling the race off.

The Shamrock was two miles behind the Reliance when the "no race signal" was given. She was in the midst of a calm.

COMRADES IN SOCIAL SESSION.

Company E, Hawaiian Regulars, the first company commissioned in 1893 by the Provisional Government, met in reunion last evening at Waverley Hall, the date being the fifth anniversary of their disbandment.

Company E, originally drafted with the following officers in commission: Charles Goode, Captain, G. W. R. King and Arthur Coyne, Lieutenants, Mr. Coyne later succeeding to the captaincy, was in existence for five years and eight months being disbanded in 1898 after efficient service. They were quartered at the barracks during revolutionary times.

Some twenty-five old comrades met last evening in social session, to discuss old times and form an organization calculated to keep the men in touch with each other. Arrangements were perfected whereby the old members of Company E will meet every year on the anniversary of their disbandment and officers were appointed.

Light refreshments were served during the business meeting and a lunch of salads and sandwiches enjoyed after the formal ceremonies. Mr. Coyne was appointed captain with Messrs. Scanlon and Q. H. Berrey as first and second lieutenants. The offices of chaplain, with the rank of third lieutenant, sergeant, corporal and camp guard were also filled.

THE NEW ENGLISH RIFLE.

England's army is to adopt a new rifle which will do equally well for cavalry and infantry. It will be twenty-five inches long instead of thirty, as the British service rifle now is. It is covered completely with wood, like the new American arm. Its caliber is .303, but there is increased twist in the rifling. There will be a few trifling changes in the breech mechanism.

FORT AND QUEEN STREETS

AN EXPEDIENT.

Henry Guy Carleton, whose stuttering is famous, tells a story of the late William Travers, whose stuttering was notorious. It is that Travers once got in line at the window of a railroad depot, and when his turn came began:

"Gi-gi-give m-m-me a t-t-ticket f-f-f-for—"

"Oh, get down to the foot of the line!" impatiently yelled the busy ticket seller. "Perhaps by the time I've waited on the rest you'll know what you want."

Travers meekly retired, and when he reappeared at the window ten minutes later he said:

"Just s-s-send m-m-me by f-f-f-freight."

"What do you mean? Why do you say that?" asked the ticket seller.

"Well, you s-s-see," explained Travers, "I can't express myself."

PLAYS LIKE ANCIENT GREEKS.

M. Saint-Saens has been enabled to throw an interesting light on ancient Greek methods of playing the lyre. Pictures still extant show the base of the strings in front being struck with the plectron held in the right hand, while the left, spread out behind and higher up, was supposed to be executing a "seconds" movement. One day last winter, while wandering in the Arab quarter of Ismailia, M. Saint-Saens was attracted by strange music, and following the sound stumbled upon some people going through incomprehensible rites. Among them was a musician playing the lyre, which he held precisely in the same way as the ancient Greeks. Closely watching his left hand behind the strings the composer was at last able to detect that its function was, by most skillful movement, solely to deaden the strings not to be sounded, while the other responded to the touch of the plectron. That probably explains another secret of the ancients.

A NON-ROYAL KING.

The new King of Serbia, like the last ill-fated holder of the title is only royal by position, not by blood, and the same may be observed of his sons, of whom one will probably take the title of crown prince. The sons will be able to boast, though, that they have right royal cousins, the children of Montenegrin aunts who have married into old reigning families, and when young George now an heir apparent, is old enough to marry an attempt will probably be made to secure a princess for him who will at least be a serene highness by birth.

SAID THE OLD SALT.

"My foot is asleep," the young woman complained who had been induced to sit in an uncomfortable position while the yacht was on a long tack.

"I thought so," answered the old salt at the tiller. "I noticed some time ago that your toes turned in."

RECORDS PULSE OF PATIENT.

Dr. Gartner, of Vienna, has just patented an instrument which records the pulse of a patient under the influence of an anesthetic. The instrument is fastened to the forearm and a graduated disc records the increase or retardation of the pulse. The experiments in the hospitals of Vienna succeeded marvelously. It is hoped by means of it to prevent death during operations.

It is interesting to know that the climate in Greenland is improving. The ice there is melting more rapidly than it is formed. Comparison of the descriptions of the Jacobshaven glacier shows that its edge has receded eight miles since 1850, and it has lost twenty to thirty feet in depth.
